Dear Parents,

Copper Mountain Middle School will be administering the State required end-of-level SAGE assessments (April 27 – May 15). Make-ups will be May 18-20. Students in Jordan School District will be taking Language Arts, Math, and Science tests during this window. These are exams that students prepare for all year long. Parents can help their student be ready for these important end-of-the-year tests.

Here are a few suggestions to assist your student:

Attendance: Students need to be in school to take the test, but it is vital that they come every day prior to the tests. Teachers review course and curriculum information, and significant learning opportunities will be taking place in the next few weeks.

Help children understand why we test: Tests are benchmarks. Schools use them to improve teaching techniques, develop curriculum, and strengthen the school climate. Tests are used to compare students by schools, districts, and geographic areas throughout the state.

Plenty of Sleep & Eat Well: Make sure your student gets plenty of sleep and a good breakfast every test day. Children who are tired and hungry are less able to pay attention in school or to handle the demands of the test.

SAGE Test Dates:
- April 27-30 Language Arts
- May 4-8 Math
- May 11-15 Science

If a situation exists where a student must miss school during the last month of school, it is important that this work be completed beforehand or other arrangements made. The student must check with his/her teachers and arrange for the testing or make-up assignments.

Sincerely,

Kim Baker, Principal

CMMS Student Wins Scholastic Award

Congratulations to Anika Bruce for winning the 2014-2015 Scholastic News Kids Press Corps. They pick 32 student reporters, who hail from 20 states across the country—with international correspondents in Puerto Rico, the Philippines, and Thailand—to report “news for kids, by kids.” Sports, politics, and entertainment are among the topics they cover. Anika Bruce, a student at our school, founded girls-rock.org, a site where girls go to discuss issues that matter to them. Anika does volunteer work in her spare time. Her favorite subjects are Language Arts and History. She says, “I enjoy meeting new people, and I like seeing how ideas start.” Way to go Anika!!

Go COLTS!

TIPS TO HELP YOUR STUDENT SUCCEED

The rigors of school work, extracurricular activities, and home life can be hard to balance. Students are often overwhelmed by all these facets of life. Middle School is a time of learning, organization, time management, and balance. Students are often thrown into all these at once and it can be hard for them to cope. When a combination of stressful activities or events occur, we as humans have the natural tendency to eliminate or give up something. A prime example of this is when students miss school. A recent article posted by the Jordan School District http://jordandistrict.org/2015/01/fun-fact-friday-every-minute-in-the-classroom-counts states the importance of students being in class and at school.

Here are some national statistics to which parents should pay attention:

- Chronic absence in kindergarten leads to lower academic achievement through 5th
- Missing just two days of school a month can put a child at risk for academic failure.
- One in ten kindergarten and 1st grade students miss nearly a month of school per year.
- By 6th grade, chronic absence is a clear predictor that students may drop out.

This article states that the best thing parents can do for their child’s future is to get them to school. The statistics above speak for themselves; missing school is not the best way to eliminate the stress of school.

It is important for students to be in class learning, doing their work, and socializing with their peers. Your counselors are here to help and can be a great resource for students to utilize when their social, emotional, and academic needs are not being met.
